A MESSAGE TO YOUNG AMERICANS OF SYRIAN ORIGIN
By KHALIL GIBRAN (1919)

I believe in you, and I believe in your destiny. I believe that you are contributors to this new civilization.

I believe that you have inherited from your forefathers an ancient dream, a song, a prophecy, which you can proudly lay as a gift of gratitude upon the lap of America.

... I believe that you can say to Emerson and Whitman and James, "In my veins runs the blood of the poets and wise men of old, and it is my desire to come to you and receive, but I shall not come with empty hands.

...It is to stand before the towers of New York, Washington, Chicago and San Francisco saying in your heart, "I am the descendant of a people that built Damascus, and Byblos, Tyre and Sidon and Antioch, and now I am here to build with you, and with a will."

It is to be proud of being an American, but it is also to be proud that your fathers and mothers came from a land upon which God laid His gracious hand and raised His messengers.

Young Americans of Syrian origin, I believe in you!

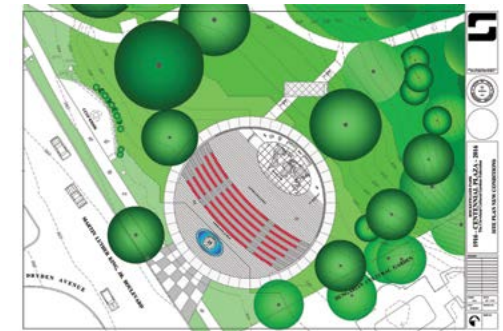

Next up for the Cultural Gardens: The Centennial Peace Plaza

The Cleveland Cultural Gardens celebrated 100 years in 2016. We at the Cleveland Cultural Gardens Federation (CCGF) decided back then that the anniversary was worth celebrating – with a lasting gift to the city of Cleveland. The executive board soon embarked on a campaign to build a plaza that will serve as a main stage for One World Day and a performance space for arts and culture events from spring through fall.

The project will be located near our kiosk, in land along Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard. It will be 100-feet in diameter and ringed with wrought-iron figures depicting a circle dance. An entryway will feature a medallion with the CCGF logo and will sit in a pool of cascading water, the symbol of life and renewal.

We're happy to report that the project is coming along well. Our capital campaign is proceeding: we're raising funds for construction and for reserves that will help us maintain the plaza for years to come.

Our dream is for the plaza to draw residents from the neighborhood, city, region, state, country and the world to the Cultural Gardens to hear music, revel in a dance performance, take part in an educational forum, and enjoy even more this beautiful treasure in the heart of Cleveland.

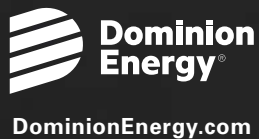

Please join us in this effort. For information on how to donate, call 216-213-4045. Thank you.

Going the distance for our communities.

At Dominion Energy Ohio, going the distance for our customers means more than just delivering safe, affordable natural gas. It means being a positive force in the communities we serve. Our EnergyShare® program has raised $7.8 million and helped more than 82,000 people in Ohio alone. These resources, combined with more than 6,170 volunteer hours from our employees, have benefited organizations as diverse as the American Red Cross, the Boy Scouts of America, the Ohio & Erie Canalway Coalition and The Salvation Army.

THE CLEVELAND CULTURAL GARDENS FEDERATION

First Garden Dedicated in 1916

Dear friends of the Cleveland Cultural Gardens:

Welcome to One World Day 2018. As president of the board of Cleveland Cultural Gardens Federation, it is my honor to recognize all the ethnic communities who have dedicated their time and resources into building up, renovating and growing their Gardens. One World Day is a great way to celebrate them and the entire multicultural community that is Northeast Ohio.

This is our 73rd consecutive One World Day, celebrating the arts and cultures of ethnic nationalities and cultures in Northeast Ohio. This is a colorful, warm, energetic and entertaining event for the entire family. We hope you enjoy the Parade of Flags, the naturalization ceremony for new citizens of the United States, and the music, food and dance in the individual gardens.

Thank you to Johnny Wu, our producer, and the entire One World Day team of coordinators, including Sheila Murphy Crawford, Angela Woodson, Tom Turkaly, Oahn Loi-Powell, Asim Datta, Laura Tereshko and Dan Hanson. This day also wouldn't be possible with the scores of volunteers who help us with a multitude of tasks.

The Cleveland Cultural Gardens are a source of great pride for Cleveland, Ohio, and the nation. There is nothing like this park in the entire United States or the world. It is a gem and we want it to be a vital part of Cleveland's renaissance.

To that end, the Cultural Gardens Federation has launched plans to make the area more of a destination spot for Clevelanders and out-of-towners alike. We are in a capital campaign to build our Centennial Peace Plaza, a gathering space for performing arts and education that will feature amphitheater seating. You can find out more by visiting our website at www.clevelandculturalgardens.org

Other plans are underway to accommodate requests by new nationality groups interested in having gardens. We also are grateful to the efforts of the Famicos Foundation in developing a visitor center for the Cultural Gardens.

In short, the Gardens are vibrant and growing. We hope you can join us in that growth. Come to the Cultural Gardens on a regular basis; enjoy this beautiful park and spread the word to your friends and family.

Have a great One World Day! Thanks for coming.

About the Cleveland Cultural Gardens

Written by Dan Hanson

The Cleveland Cultural Gardens are part of Rockefeller Park which consists of land donated by John D. Rockefeller on Cleveland's Centennial celebration in 1896.

In 1916, a journalist and Shakespeare enthusiast named Leo Weidental helped establish the Shakespeare Garden which later became the British Garden. Weidental saw the multiplicity of nationalities that were in or coming to Cleveland and had a vision of using this City of Cleveland land as a tribute to them.

The second garden was the Hebrew Garden and it was dedicated in 1926. Later in the 1920's and 30's other nationalities began working on gardens to represent their own heritage. After the Great Depression, much of the infrastructure was installed with the assistance of the WPA (Work Projects Administration) including bridges and retaining walls.

The history and growth of the Cultural Gardens is a mirror of the history and growth of Cleveland. The early gardens were predominantly European (Italian, German, Czech, Polish, Hungarian, Irish, Slovak, etc.) because that's who had been settling in Cleveland.

As people from other areas came to Cleveland, interest in gardens for their heritage grew and new and proposed gardens focused on the Middle East, Asia and Africa. Soon there will be 35 or so gardens representing many of the diverse nationalities that make Cleveland home.

Because of the Cultural Gardens, Cleveland has the only street in the world with a large statue of Mahatma Gandhi on a street named for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Not to mention the statue of Mother Teresa at the other end of the road.

Nowhere else can you find scientists like Copernicus, Tesla and Madame Curie mingled with composers such as Bach, Liszt, Chopin and Beethoven.

The Cleveland Cultural Gardens Federation (CCGF) is the group of volunteers who have created, maintained and improved the Gardens over the years. They have given their time, talent and treasure to build gardens, raise funds for monuments and do the mundane but necessary tasks like weeding and planting flowers – all for the love of their heritage and their City.

After a successful Centennial Year, plans for the next 100 years, including the Centennial Plaza, are being implemented. Please join us as we continue in our next 100 years of this unique treasure. Learn more at clevelandculturalgardens.org.

The Serbian Cultural Garden, which was dedicated on October 5, 2008, was inspired by the people and land of Serbia. A gently curving path winds through the Garden's mature beech and oak trees. The central plaza, which includes a symbolic cube of a Serbian crest, also features a raised circular concrete seating area inscribed with the motto, "Only Unity Saves the Serbs". The plaza also includes a bronze icon of Saint Sava.

The garden also includes a number of busts featuring famous Serbian people: King Peter I, liberator of the Serbian people; Mihajlo Pupin, extraordinary scientist; poet Petar Petrović Njegoš, an Orthodox Prince-Bishop and ruler of Montenegro; Stevan Mokranjac, composer; Vuk Karadžić, author of the first Serbian dictionary and chronicler of Serbian folklore; Mileva Marić, brilliant Serbian physicist and mathematician and wife of Albert Einstein; Milutin Milanković, world renowned Serbian scientist, author of the theory of climate changes and the most precise calendar and Nadežda Petrović, a Serbian painter from the late 19th and early 20th centuries considered Serbia's most famous impressionist and fauvist.

Welcome (Ahlaan) to one of the newest and currently developing
Lebanese Cultural Garden

VOL / CLE
Volunteers / Cleveland

Ahlaan. It is one word to guide one simple concept, the tradition of the Lebanese to welcome. It goes back centuries as Lebanon welcomed the east to the west and the west to the east and remains a theme today. Simple and modern, the new Lebanese cultural garden will welcome visitors with an allure to all those passing by via car, bicycle, or on foot. It is through the atmosphere of the garden that visitors will begin to understand a bit of the Lebanese culture and leave wanting to learn more.
